

Current cardiovascular disease (CVD) risk prediction models are not applicable in MDS patients: preliminary results of a prospective observational single-centre cohort study

